

NSLS Officer Training

January 22 & 23

Building Leaders Who Make A Better World

On January 22nd and 23rd, the National Society of Leadership and Success's executive board gathered to train new and existing officers. Hosted by Dr. Nina Talley, the Wilmington College NSLS Head Advisor, and Kayla Wyse, NSLS Student President. Kayla introduced the new board consisting of Jay Schneder as Vice President, Jaymirr Johnson as

Vice President in training, Brittanie Clair as Secretary, Courtney Luderman as Treasurer, Hannah Houseknecht as Reporter in training, and Darron Crump as Membership Outreach Chair. She then led the discussion on NSLS's mission, goals, and motto. The team learned how to lead with their strengths, communication, and conflict management.

The officers and Dr. Nina Talley participated in team bonding exercises to increase trust and exemplify communication among team members.

January 22nd Kicked off the first NSLS Officer Training. Being in a transition phase, I didn't know what to expect or gain from this enrichment activity. Facilitated by NSLS Advisor Dr. Nina Talley and President Kayla Wyse, officer training was a great success. Officer Training served as a great way to meet and develop a relationship with new NSLS Officers. I am excited to serve as the NSLS Vice president come this fall. I'm looking forward to what the future holds for the Wilmington College NSLS Chapter. – Jaymirr Johnson

Officer training showed us what it really means to be a leader. I learned about the strengths of my other teammates so that we could figure out the strengths of the team. We worked to gain trust between us through the many activities we did. This training helped us form a foundation for this team. With this strong foundation we will better be able to navigate the challenges that any team faces. – Courtney Luderman

I am Brittanie Clair, the current Secretary of NSLS. Being an Officer on NSLS has been beneficial for many reasons. Of course, the first and foremost being that when anyone has a question about what NSLS is doing and they ask, I can answer it. I was asked to join the leadership team upon NSLS starting a chapter on the Wilmington College campus, so I have been able to see the organization

The background of the entire page is a close-up photograph of several books stacked together. A red, textured pencil is positioned diagonally across the books, pointing towards the bottom right. The books have various colored spines, including blue, brown, and red. The pages of the books are visible, showing a light cream color.

continue to rise with the leadership team that we have now. Being able to help people enhance their leadership skills has always been something I have enjoyed doing. Being a part of NSLS in general has been an uplifting experience! - Brittanie Clair

Officer Training was a great experience. I did not know everyone in the beginning but in the end, I had a level of trust and understanding that I did not expect. I learned how my attributes can be seen in different ways and how they can benefit my team. The growth was in expected and unexpected ways. Officer training left me with a good feeling and lasting memories. – Darron Crump

I enjoyed teaching and educating the new leaders and officers of the Wilmington College NSLS. In the past, I had always been the one getting educated. I got to use the skills and knowledge I have acquired to teach others and promote them to the next level in their leadership journey. I learned to slow down and watch the audience for understanding. It was a wonderful experience, and I look forward to doing it again. – Kayla Wyse

At Officer Training, I learned so much. I learned about NSLS's mission and goals, my new team members, and our team's strengths. I learned about the reporter's specific responsibilities as well as the executive board's role. With this training, I left confident in my abilities to fulfill my position. I also left excited for Wilmington College NSLS chapter's plans for this semester. – Hannah Houseknecht